

now look what you've done!

Let an Xpelair extractor fan rescue you from steam & fumes

Every day, your modern kitchen appliances fill your house with steam, greasy vapours and lingering cooking smells.

Insist on Xpelair and bring freshness to your home at the pull of a cord. The compact 6" model sucks out 10,000 cubic feet of stale, steamy air per hour—whisks fumes and cooking smells outside where they can do no harm!

£11.9.6 and a free afternoon!

That's all a handy husband needs to liberate your home from condensation and greasy cooking fumes!

Once the simple window or wall installation is completed, you've got a fan that's guaranteed for two years.

The precision-engineered, double-insulated 30W motor gives you extra power that copes with the steamiest conditions. And Xpelair's automatic shutter is absolutely draught-proof when the fan is off.

Tremendous value at only £11.9.6!

Go and talk to your local electrical dealer/contractor or Electricity Board showroom and ask for the Xpelair ventilation brochure. Or simply fill in the coupon and we'll send you one by return post.

Please send me the free Xpelair colour brochure. (Block letters please)
