As soon as you enter a house tell-tale cooking odours give the game away. No Xpelair exhaust fan in the kitchen!

Cooking, washing-up, always produce steam and if it isn't banished immediately, steam drifts round the house carrying the odours along for the ride.

This stale, unseen atmosphere penetrates furnishings and fabrics, deposits dulling films on walls and paintwork, condenses on windows, makes you feel hot and tired, ruins your hairstyle.

But now you can say goodbye to all that. An XPELAIR Exhaust Fan will whisk fumes and cooking smells outside — where they can't do any harm!

Insist on XPELAIR and bring freshness to your home, at the pull of a cord. From only $25.00. See your local electrical retailer, or discuss it with your builder.
